Synopsis

The Dentons Global RIB team from 11 countries namely Australia, Canada, France, Germany, Indonesia, Luxembourg, Malaysia, Netherlands, Singapore, United Kingdom and the United States offer a truly global perspective on threats to the bank lender - rescue financing displacing the priority of the secured lender, ipso facto clauses, increased litigation funding, shifting of the centre of main interest (COMI) of debtors as happened recently in the Noble restructuring, dealing with cross border insolvencies in jurisdictions like Indonesia, and what happens after Brexit.

Our Dentons partners from across the globe and who are experts on these issues will be delighted to share their perspectives with you in an interactive panel discussion format.

Highlights:

- The Singapore Agenda – creation of an international debt restructuring centre by the insolvency law reforms, case law updates, ipso facto clauses, cryptocurrency in insolvency, and views from other jurisdictions.
- The threats to bank lenders: (a) Rescue financing – the US experience and (b) Insolvency litigation funding – things to look out for
- Shifting of COMI – what happened in the Noble Restructuring? What should creditors be mindful of?
- Other ASEAN updates – Insolvency in Malaysia and Indonesia and how to navigate these jurisdictions
- Contributors to global uncertainty - Brexit and Trump
